Mexican Cinema Under Neoliberalism: A Conversation with Filmmaker Carlos Rossini on the Intersection of Film and Politics in the 21st Century

Mexico is currently going through a profound political transformation. Last year’s crushing electoral win of Andrés Manuel López Obrador as the new president of Mexico signaled the end of an era marked by neoliberalism policies that were implanted in Mexico since the eighties. Join us for a conversation with director-producer Carlos Rossini (The Chambermaid, The Mayor) on the intersection of Mexican cinema and politics in the new century, how neoliberal policies shaped the narratives and modes of production south of the border, and what is currently at stake in Mexican cinema with the change in the federal government.

FREE! No tickets required. Coffee and Mexican pastries will be served.
