Lead for America is a diverse and dynamic movement of leaders who believe in the transformative potential of local government to build community and tackle the toughest of challenges.

WHY LEAD FOR AMERICA?

Lost Civic Potential: 84% of Millennials consider it their duty to make the world a better place, but most do work that often promotes individual self-advancement over contribution to community.

Aging Local Governments: By 2006, only 13% of local government managers were under 40 and only 1% were 30 or younger.

Non-Representative Leadership: 74.8% of those who earn more than the median wage in local government are white, 10 points higher than their share of the population.
