The COLLEGE OF SOCIAL & BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES — “The People College” — presents

VOICES & CHOICES of the 2012 Election

THURS OCT 25, 7pm Jewish Community Center Ballroom

“Win, Lose or Draw: Cartoon Humor in Campaigns”

A battle of wit and skill with cartoonists David Fitzsimmons and Steve Kelley. Moderated by Kate Kenski.

[Images of cartoon characters]

David Fitzsimmons is a cartoonist, humor columnist and blogger for the Arizona Daily Star. Fitzsimmons is syndicated in more than 100 news publications. A Pulitzer finalist in 1988, his award-winning cartoons have drawn both fire and praise. Fitzsimmons also entertains audiences as a one-of-a-kind stand-up cartoonist and conference speaker. Known as the “fastest draw west of the Potomac,” Fitz has opened for PBS’ Mark Russell and has performed his “ exceedingly silly” chalk talks in many conference meeting rooms, theaters, schools, and clubhouses.

Steve Kelley has devoted his attention to public officials for more than two decades as a political cartoonist. His humor has frequently portrayed office-holders in whimsical situations, to the amusement of his readers. Kelley’s work has won numerous awards, including six first-place finishes from the California Newspaper Publishers Association. In 1998, he was a Pulitzer Prize finalist, and in 2001, he won first-place awards from the CNPA, the Los Angeles Press Club and the Best of the West competition. Steve is a popular speaker and humorist and has been a frequent guest on “The Tonight Show.”

Kate Kenski teaches political communication, public opinion, and research methods in the Department of Communication and the School of Government and Public Policy at the University of Arizona. Kenski is co-author of “The Obama Victory: How Media, Money, and Message Shaped the 2008 Election,” which was included in The Daily Beast’s “What 10 Books to Read for the Election Season: Cicero, Vidal and More.”

LRC 480, Children’s Literature in the Classroom (3 units), is open for registration for Spring 2013 to students from across the university. The course provides students with an opportunity to explore the many excellent books available for children and the authors, illustrators and poets who write for children. The course is experiential with a primary focus on reading widely from self-selected children’s books, discussing children’s novels in literature groups, and engaging in inquiries that relate to students’ interests. The course uses the resources in the Worlds of Words library collection so participants are surrounded by thousands of children’s books from around the world in class sessions and have the time to browse books from this collection. The focus is not teaching methods, but a survey of the books and immersion in reading the literature available for children.
TechCrunch.com reports that “employers are actually looking for students with entrepreneurship experience when hiring for entry-level positions.” Do you want to be one of those hires? Then come study with us! Princeton Review/Entrepreneur magazine’s annual survey has placed the McGuire Center #2 among public undergraduate programs and #4 among public graduate program, and we want you to be part of our team.

Information Sessions will be held on the following dates in McClelland Hall, Room 202:

- Friday, October 19 – 9:30-10:00 am and 2:00-2:30 pm
- Tuesday, October 23 – 12:00-12:30 pm
- Monday, October 29 – 1:00-1:30 pm
- Wednesday, November 7 – 3:00-3:30 pm
- Thursday, November 15th – 10:00-10:30 am

Sports Career Panel & Networking Event

Love sports but don’t see yourself playing in the Super Bowl, World Series or Stanley Cup anytime soon? Find out how you can translate any fanatical interests in sports that you may harbor to a rewarding (and potentially lucrative) career at Career Services’ first Career Panel & Networking Event this Fall Semester. Panelists include representatives from the Phoenix Suns, Arizona Diamondbacks, the Phoenix Mercury, FOX Sports, Sports Extravaganza, Inc., and UA Athletics. Whether you are just considering a career in Sports, or are absolutely convinced this career path is your destiny, check out this Panel and Networking Event.

Thursday, October 25th

5:30 pm to 7 pm

in the Tucson Meeting Room

on the 3rd floor of the Student Union Memorial Center

This panel brings together seven professionals representing different facets of the Sports industry. These panelists will offer career insights on this exciting field, sharing information on their own career paths, trends in the field and critical skills students should hone if they are interested in pursuing careers in the sports field. A networking session following the panel will offer students an opportunity to connect directly with the panelists. Students can meet:

Greg Byrne, University of Arizona’s Director of Athletics
Lesley Factor Miller, The Phoenix Mercury’s Director of Public and Community Relations
Shayna Kuper, The Phoenix Mercury’s Marketing Manager & UA alum
LaTanya Sheffield, Olympian and Sports Extravaganza, Inc.’s Founder
Clark Pierce, FOX Sports’ Senior Vice President of Emerging Technology
Plus representatives from the Phoenix Suns and the Arizona Diamondbacks, still to be named.

A grant from the University of Arizona Student Services fee has made this career panel/networking event series possible for students. Seating is limited, food and beverage is included (free!) and interested students are asked to RSVP online at www.career.arizona.edu.
The Rangel International Affairs Program is now accepting applications for the 2013 Rangel International Affairs Graduate Fellowship. The Fellowship welcomes applications from young people interested in careers of international service. For those who want to become Foreign Services Officers in the U.S. Department of State, The Rangel Graduate Fellowship Program provides benefits of up to $90,000 over two years toward a two-year master’s degree, arranges internships on Capitol Hill and at U.S. embassies, and provides professional development and support activities. Fellows may use the fellowship to attend a two-year master’s program in a U.S. institution to study any area of relevance to the Foreign Service, including international relations, public policy, public administration, languages, or business administration. Upon successful completion of the two-year fellowship, Fellows enter the Foreign Service of the U.S. Department of State.

Applicants must be college seniors or graduates looking to start two-year graduate programs in fall 2013, must have GPAs of at least 3.2, and be U.S. citizens. The program welcomes any undergraduate major and encourages applications from members of minority groups historically underrepresented in the Foreign Service and those with financial need.
