Preamble

This document sets forth the governance structure of the School of Government and Public Policy. Responsibility for making policy decisions and determining the direction of the School rests with the School faculty as a whole, insofar as this does not conflict with College or University policy.

Membership

The regular faculty of the School of Government and Public Policy—i.e., those eligible to vote—will consist of all tenured or tenure-track faculty with the ranks of professor, associate professor, and assistant professor. Career-track faculty with full time, multi-year appointments shall have voting rights on all matters with the exception of review and promotion cases. Career-track faculty will also have voting rights on review and promotion cases for other Career-track faculty holding lower ranks. Other instructors can be awarded voting rights on non-personnel matters upon majority vote of the committee of the whole.

The School may, by majority vote of faculty present, grant “courtesy” appointments to selected faculty in other departments. Such joint appointments, which do not have an SGPP salary commitment, will not normally be granted voting rights, unless such rights are explicitly extended by the faculty.

PhD students may select a representative to vote on their behalf except with regard to personnel decisions.

Committee Structure and Responsibilities

In carrying out this responsibility, the School uses a governance structure that has the following general characteristics:

1. The operational and decision-making responsibilities of the School are shared by the Director, and the faculty through a set of standing faculty committees.
2. The chairs of the standing committees are responsible for the operations of their committees and for making recommendations to the faculty and Director on important policy issues.
3. The standing committees are: Committee of the Whole; Executive Committee; PhD Committee; MPA/MPP Committee; MA ISS Committee; Undergraduate Programs Committee; Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee; and Faculty Evaluation Committee. The method of selection and responsibilities of each standing committee are listed below.
4. Normally committee members will serve three-year staggered terms with a two-year hiatus between serving on the same committee. Terms run in parallel with the academic
5. Procedures governing Promotion and Tenure Committees and 3rd Year Review

Committees, which are not standing committees, can be found under the Promotion and Tenure Guidelines of the School of Government and Public Policy, College of Social and Behavioral Sciences’ Promotion and Tenure Guidelines, and the University Handbook for Appointed Personnel 3.3 Promotion and Tenure.

Committee of the Whole

Selection: All regular faculty members and the PhD representative are members of the committee of the Whole.

Responsibilities: The Committee of the Whole is convened at least twice a semester. Additional meetings may be called by the Director in consultation with the Executive Committee or by petition of one-third of regular faculty in residence. When convened, the committee hears reports by the Director and the chairs of the standing committees and acts on items brought before it by the Director, chairs of the standing committees, and by faculty who may have appropriate items for the agenda. The Director will present an annual report on the budget of the School.

The Committee of the Whole is also responsible for making recommendations on some appointments to committees. In making such recommendations, the committee will use an instant runoff system. The committee also works closely with the Dean in selecting and evaluating the Director.

A quorum is a majority of the voting faculty, excluding faculty on leave, sabbatical, or administrative assignment outside of the School. A quorum must be present for the meeting to be formally conducted.

Decisions by the faculty, including recommendations to the Dean concerning selection and evaluation of the Director, shall be determined by a majority vote of those present. The vote will be by “show of hands.” Only faculty present throughout the meeting, physically or virtually, may vote. Faculty are expected to make every effort to attend meetings physically. Virtual participation will be permitted only when physical participation is not possible.

The order of business for any meeting of the faculty shall be in accordance with the written agenda prepared for the meeting by the Director in consultation with the Executive Committee. The agenda shall provide at least for the following:

a. Approval of minutes of prior regular or special meetings not previously approved;
b. Matters presented by the chair of standing committees of the faculty;
c. Reports, if any, from non-standing (i.e., ad hoc or special) committees appointed by the Director;
d. Matters presented by the Director; and
e. Old and new business.

During the course of any meeting of the Committee of the Whole, the Director shall act as presiding officer and all motions shall be directed to the Director. However, the Director may delegate to the chair of each respective committee the responsibility for chairing discussion of items presented to the faculty.

The rules contained in the current edition of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised shall govern the deliberations of the faculty meetings in all cases to which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with these bylaws and special rules of order the faculty may adopt.
